If you have ever passed room A119, you've probably noticed Mr. Finnegan with rolled up sleeves and suspenders, surrounded by books and folders while he busily marks papers. He's preparing work for his narrative writing, speed reading and advanced composition classes.

Mr. Finnegan usually relaxes only during his lunch period. Through strict classroom instruction, he makes the demand that his students work hard. Says one student, "He's like a second lieutenant in the army. He drills you to the point where you have to learn."

Because of his strict manner, some students tend to think that he is a difficult person to get to know. However, out of class, he "talks to you like your father or best friend would."

When students least expect it, Mr. Finnegan punctuates his lectures with humorous or blunt examples of language misuse. In his composition class he gave this example: "Having a rubber seat, I found the truck very comfortable." As one student said, "It's like comic relief in a highly dramatic play."

We honor Mr. Finnegan for such fine work over the years.

Dedication

Mr. Leo Amundson, counselor to seniors and new students, has talked with just about every student who has gone through Sibley in the past twenty years. He has answered questions about college, vo-tech and personal problems concerning the students of Sibley. To anyone who wished to take part, Mr. Amundson has held group sessions with students to answer any questions regarding their future. "He would help you with anything," said one group session member.

Students who know Mr. Amundson say he is "friendly", "easy going", and that "he really helped when I needed help." One senior said, "He's a real good counselor, because he can tell when something is wrong even before you say anything."

Mr. Amundson will be talking to many more thousands of young people in the future about their post high school plans in the years to come. The 1977 Keewaydin honors Mr. Amundson for all the time he has spent with the students at Sibley. The time has been much appreciated. He is a friend to all who need him.

An Average School Day

6:00- The alarm goes off (Wow! is that floor cold!)
6:30- "Who used up all the hot water?!"
7:00- Yech! Ever eat a grapefruit after brushing your teeth?
7:30- 100 yard dash for the bus.
8:00- Last minute homework.
8:30- Thinking up an unused tardy excuse.
9:00- Clockwatching in Math class.

9:30- A test?! I never heard about any test!
10:00- My homework? Uh . . . I got tuna fish on it and the cat ate it.
10:30- To think I could be watching Happy Days now.
11:00- It's freezing in here! Santa isn't the only one who works in the North Pole.
11:30- Even Phyllis Diller wouldn't wear a Sibley gymsuit.
12:00- "You found a WHAT in your hamburger?!
12:30- How did the books in "Best Sellers" make the list?

1:00- You should hear what the guys in Home-ec did . . .
1:30- "Listen, you don't know my mom, you send home a midquarter and you're an accomplice to a murder."
2:00- . . . counting down the minutes.
2:30- Will we make it???
3:00- Waiting for the bus, and waiting, and waiting . . .

1. Who was Hiawatha?
2. What type of hero was he?
3. How was Nokomis related to Hiawatha?
4. Who were Wabun, Shawondasee, and Kabibonkka?
5. What did they rule?
6. Who was Mudjekeewis?
7. What did he (Mudjekeewis) rule?
8. List three names Hiawatha was also known as.
9. Who was Henry Rowe Schoolcraft?
10. Who wrote the poem, "The Song of Hiawatha"?
11. What is the setting of the poem?
12. What is Keewaydin?
13. Who gave this region its name?
14. In what year was the first Keewaydin published?

The Keewaydin staff asked students, what does Keewaydin mean? We think you'll enjoy the responses we received:

Land of the lost
Some Indian they named the school after
It's a musical group
Happy Birthday
Eternity for our souls

A group of guys who want to get away from their wives.
The publisher
It's from the Latin word, meaning . . . um . . .
Next year
Is it Spanish?
It's one of those things that swim around in the water
An Indian term for Indian
A brand name for canoes

To all you misguided students and staff who participated in our poll and to those who escaped our clutches we dedicate this spread.

Hiawatha, or Nanabozho, as the Ojibway called him, often struggled with nature, instead of with people. According to legend, he could transform himself into any animal. He often appeared as a rabbit.

For example, in one legend, Hiawatha's grandmother, Nokomis, was smoking some meat on a rack over a fire. Suddenly a big wind knocked over her rice basket. To her surprise, a rabbit ran from under the basket. The rabbit was Hiawatha.

In another legend, Hiawatha got together with a snowshoe rabbit. They were to have a great feast. Each one of them was suppose to do something in preparation for this. The rabbit's job was to mix up the tobacco, which he did with his paws. When he was through he showed his paws to Hiawatha. "Look, my feet are yellow," said the rabbit. Hiawatha replied, "Brother, your feet will look yellow from generation to generation."

That is why the paws of rabbits are yellow.

When the following players were asked to describe their team in just one word Bob Kelly said, "Work." Jim Holmes replied, "Headaches." Mr. Chambers first said, "Heavy," but then he changed his reply to, "Exciting." Joe Guscetti summed up the season by saying, "Our team record is no reflection of the way we played. We lost two very close games to White Bear and to S. St. Paul. The records broken this year were because of the fantastic offensive line of T. Clawson, S. Finnegan, J. Lehman, J. Ehlert, J. Schuster and R. Bauer." Records set this year by the team include Rushing-1772, the defense allowed only one touchdown pass. Individual records set were by Joe Guscetti and Dan Daily. Joe rushed 750 yards in a single season. Dan set a record of 42 points in scoring, his career total is 72 points.

As if they were tiny players on a foosball table who had been wound-up ready to play, the Mighty Warriors spun off five goals against the Woodbury Royales within a time lapse of two minutes. The school band never even got the chance to finish playing the school song until the final goal had been scored! Bewildered and confused by the fast action, spectators thought the music to be the product of a chipped and broken record! The final score of the action-packed game was a whopping 8 for the Warriors and a zip 0 for the Royals.

What makes a team click into action like this? Tom Burke, center half back on the team, contends that, "the coaching is excellent and the coaches are easy to talk to if you have any special problems. We have at least two good players at every position."

These two factors contributed to a winning soccer team this year. Their record stands ten wins, four losses, and three ties. In the region playoffs they finished off Ramsey four to one, but lost to Kellogge one to two, forfeiting their chance to go to state; however, Tom Burke, John Kuckler, and Stu Wasilowski were named All-Conference individual players. Stu was also named to the All-State Team.

Smashing their way through the conference matches, the Girls' Tennis Team advanced all the way to region finals where they competed against SPA and were narrowly beat 2-3. SPA later went on to become state champions.

"A rigorous conditioning schedule, a pre-match diet of rice crispy bars, and the efforts of their coaches, Tom Boice and Sue Carlson, were the most important factors in the team's success," according to Janet Petroski.

Cross Country Means Self-discipline

"Each of the individuals on this year's team worked to improve his or her endurance and overall speed," stated Tim Gagliardi, coach of the Cross Country Team. "As a group they were a team of various abilities and differing attitudes. Our younger runners grew in experience and in commitment to serious training as our veteran runners worked to pass new goals for themselves."

Julie Carlson, Sibley's solitary girl runner, performed her individual best, 14:04, in the final meet of the year at Glencoe, Minnesota.

Looking back at the season, Tom Peters, one of the other team members, pointed out that there is "alot of self-discipline" involved in Cross Country. The workouts consisted of long distance running eight to twelve miles a day, as well as speed work.

Wondrous Waterwomen Do It Again

The Wondrous Warrior Waterwomen remained Conference Champs. Team spirit, individual effort, and remarkable talent gave Sibley the strength to remain undefeated in duo meets for the last two years. Before each meet started, the team met in the locker room and sang their theme song, "Violent Love," led by their captains Kathy Wondra, Michon Tuszka, and Karen Kaiser.

Four girls went to state. Peggy Kennedy, Lisa Hechtl, Ann Kennedy, and Debbie Kane. Ann Kennedy came home with a second and the relay received a fifth.

The auditorium was wall to wall with students, faculty, and alumni. In the heat of the spotlight, seven nervous girls stood on stage. In a matter of minutes, one would be crowned the Homecoming Queen of 1976.

Queen Heidi Reigns . . .

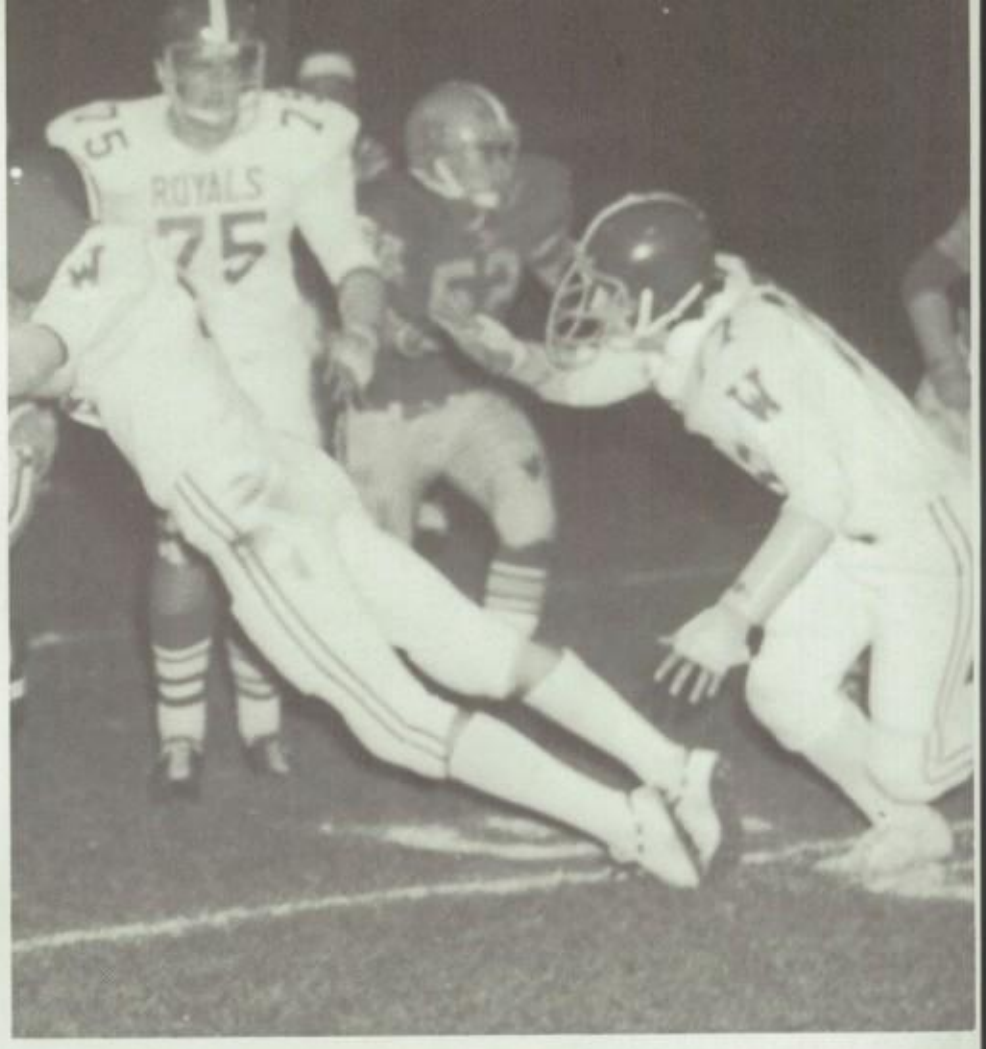
Then, the lights grew dim. The tension mounted. Former Queen Kathy O'Hearn began her ceremonial walk. She paraded slowly around the semi-circle of candidates and their steadfast escorts. Holding the crown high above her head, Kathy crossed behind the princesses. She turned and crowned Heidi Libera Homecoming Queen.

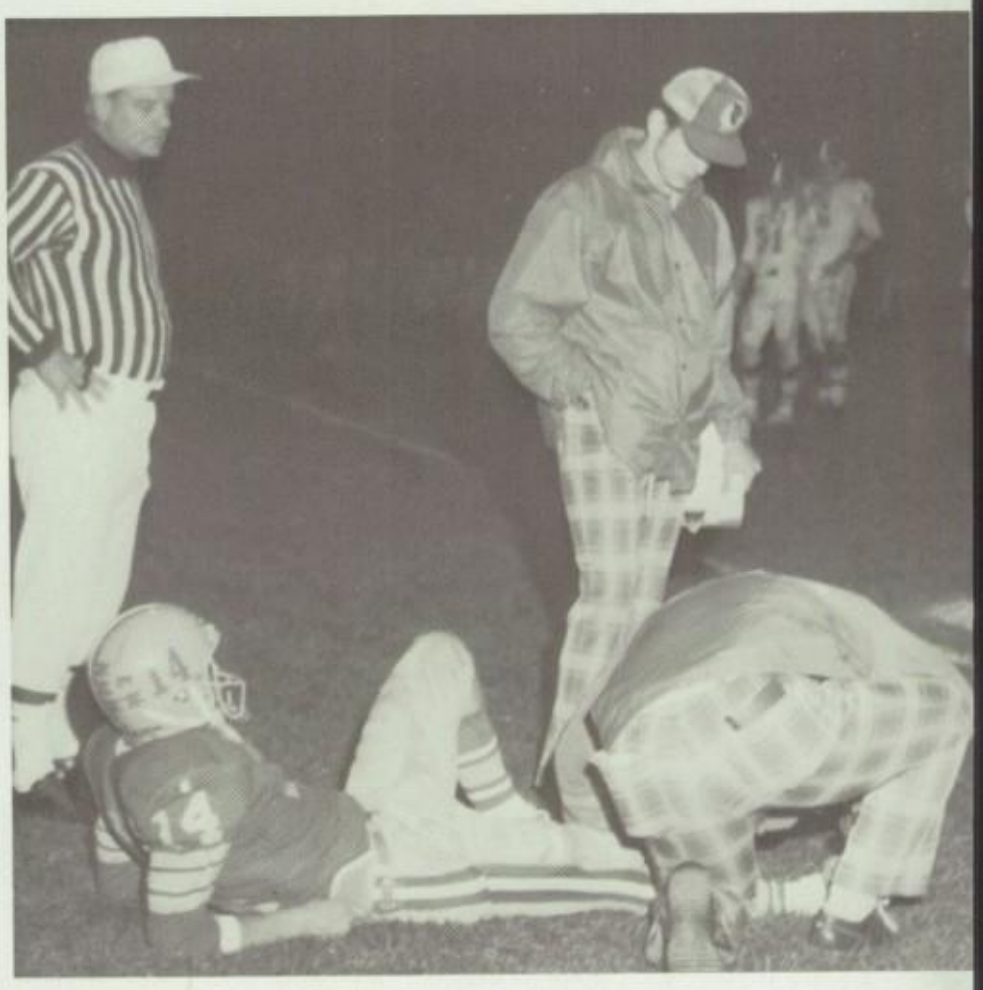
Prior to the crowning the traditional pepfest was held. The Warriorettes performed a dance routine to Michael Murphy's, "A Fifth of Beethoven," the Marching Band did a contemporary tune by the rock group, Queen, and the sophomore cheerleaders did a take-off on Cinderella.

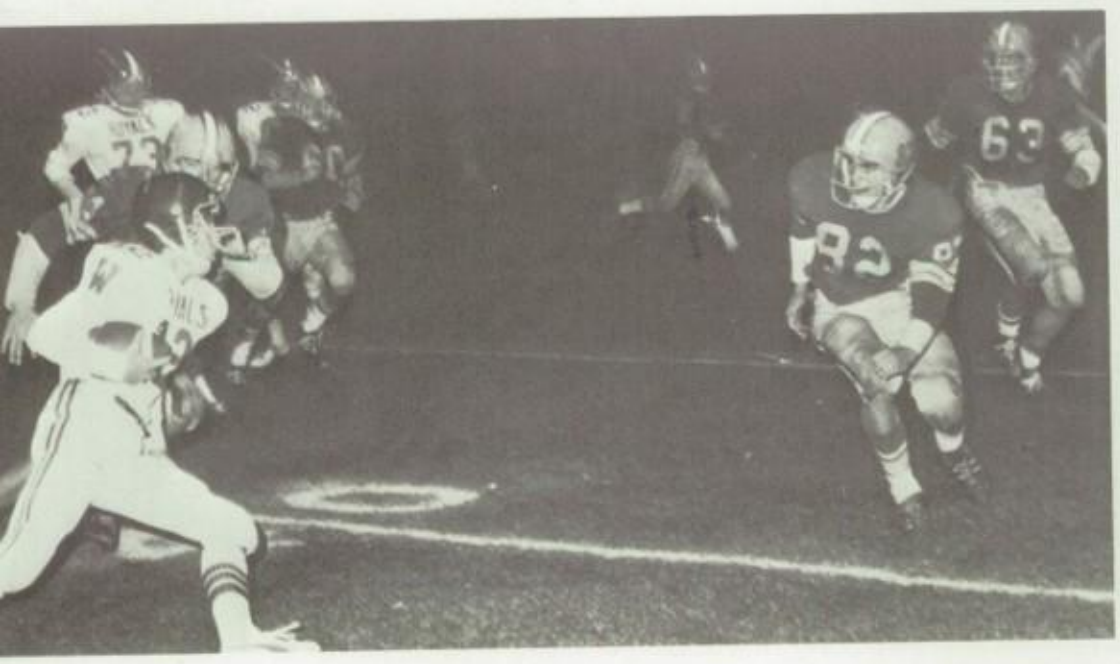
Although the mighty Warrior Football Team suffered a disappointing defeat to the Woodbury Royals, the 1976 Homecoming Week was a success as well as an accomplishment, according to Chairperson Gayle Rascher.

HOMECOMING

Disappointment, summed up Coach Steve Chambers' feelings about the Homecoming football game. Coach Chambers said, "They (Woodbury) were able to make the big play when they needed to, and we weren't." The game marked the last Homecoming football game for the 21 seniors on the team, and for the rest of the seniors in the stands.



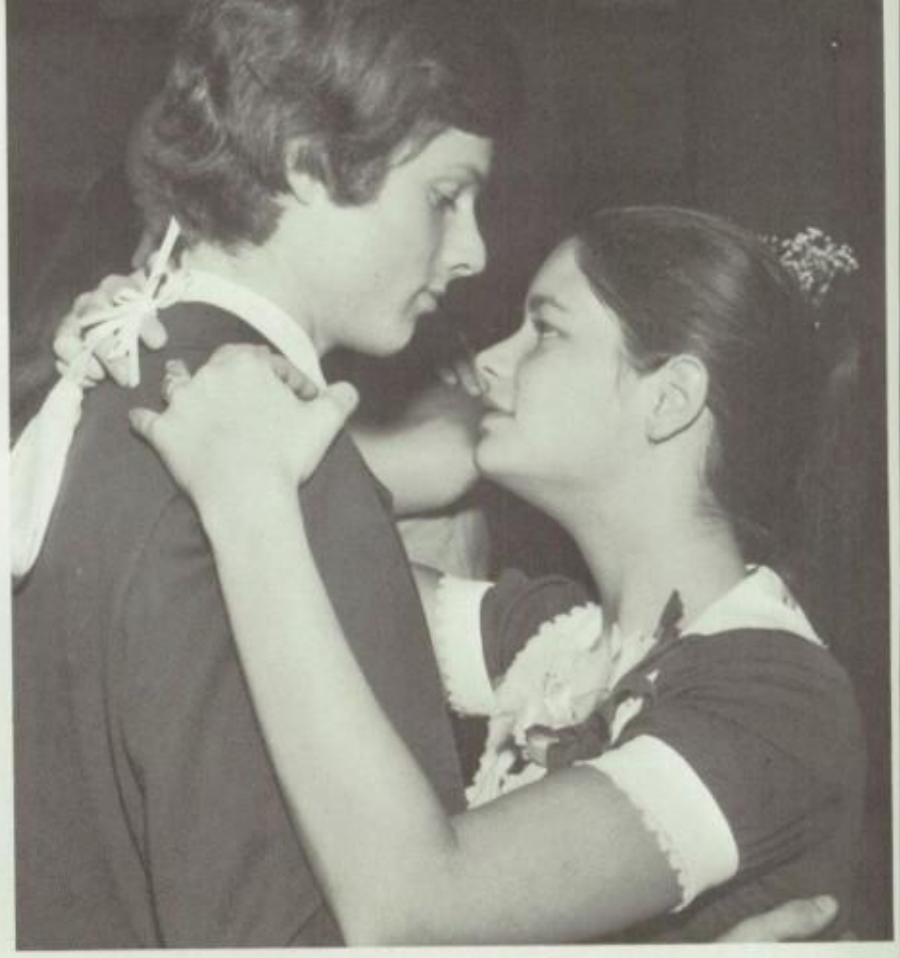




"Excellent organization, hard work, and the will to win," made the juniors victorious said Coach Mark Kaplan. Kaplan also said, "The 20 to 14 score was representative of the new sophistication of girl's flag football."

HOMECOMING

"Generally speaking, that was the best behaved, sharpest looking group that we have had at a dance in a long time," said Mr. Wilke. More than 150 couples danced to the music of Magic at the 1976 Homecoming dance. The band played contemporary tunes by Bad Company and Gary Wright as the crowd enjoyed fellowship and refreshments.



All For A Little Blood

On October 13, 1976, Amy Sell, one of 168 slightly apprehensive students filed slowly through the gymnasium doors.

"I was really anxious."

She noticed a table to the right where pop, donuts, crackers, cookies and coffeecake awaited the end of the ordeal. A Red Cross worker interrupted her thoughts to take her temperature and check her pulse. Another asked her a few questions concerning her health, took her blood pressure, did a blood type, finger printed her and led her to a table where a third Red Cross worker carefully removed a pint of her blood.

"Wow! All this for a little blood!"

Henry Sibley was picked this year for a special pilot project bloodmobile. This project called for students to give blood in the fall rather than in the spring when the majority of other high schools have their blood drives. Having the bloodmobile here in the fall was the major reason for the decline in donations. The majoriety of Juniors hadn't yet turned 17.

Tracy Stickler and Kathy Hamilton were the chairpersons for this year's drive. They, along with those others who helped make the bloodmobile run so smoothly, are to be credited with "a great deal of thanks for a job well done." Mrs. Seng seemed to sum it all up as she said that the students here at Sibley are "a terrific bunch." They became involved in the spirit of the bloodmobile as they, however indirectly, helped to save lives.

EVENTS

Services Respond To Sibley's Needs

Library

The library is more than most students think it is. Combined with the AV department, it forms the IMC-Instructional Material Center. Each department has its own functions, but these work together to serve both faculty and student body.

"A lot of kids at Henry Sibley don't realize that we have one of the finest high school libraries anywhere," said Mrs. Laura Taylor, the IMC coordinator.

Mr. Craig Bucher, an English teacher, also commented. "We have space, extensive materials and a highly qualified librarian, we have one of the best libraries in the state."

With the addition this year of the Microfiche, electric typewriters on all three floors, calculators, and the career center, the library offers educational opportunities of all kinds.

Newspaper changes format

The journalism class had a new format this year. Instead of a semester course, it was a full year.

Mr. James Iverson, the advisor, believed that it had more continuity since the same group of students were able to work together.

Many of the students enjoyed this class. When it began, there was some trouble, but once they learned the ba- a newspaper, things ran smoothly.

"It teaches the student to be responsible while having fun writing stories," Dave Danneker stated.

"It's fun to pretend you're on the big time newspaper," stated another staff member.

People were always saying the news was old, but the newspaper staff made an extra effort to publish more editions each semester.

They worked hard to keep up on school activities, events, and to print news that was interesting to everyone.

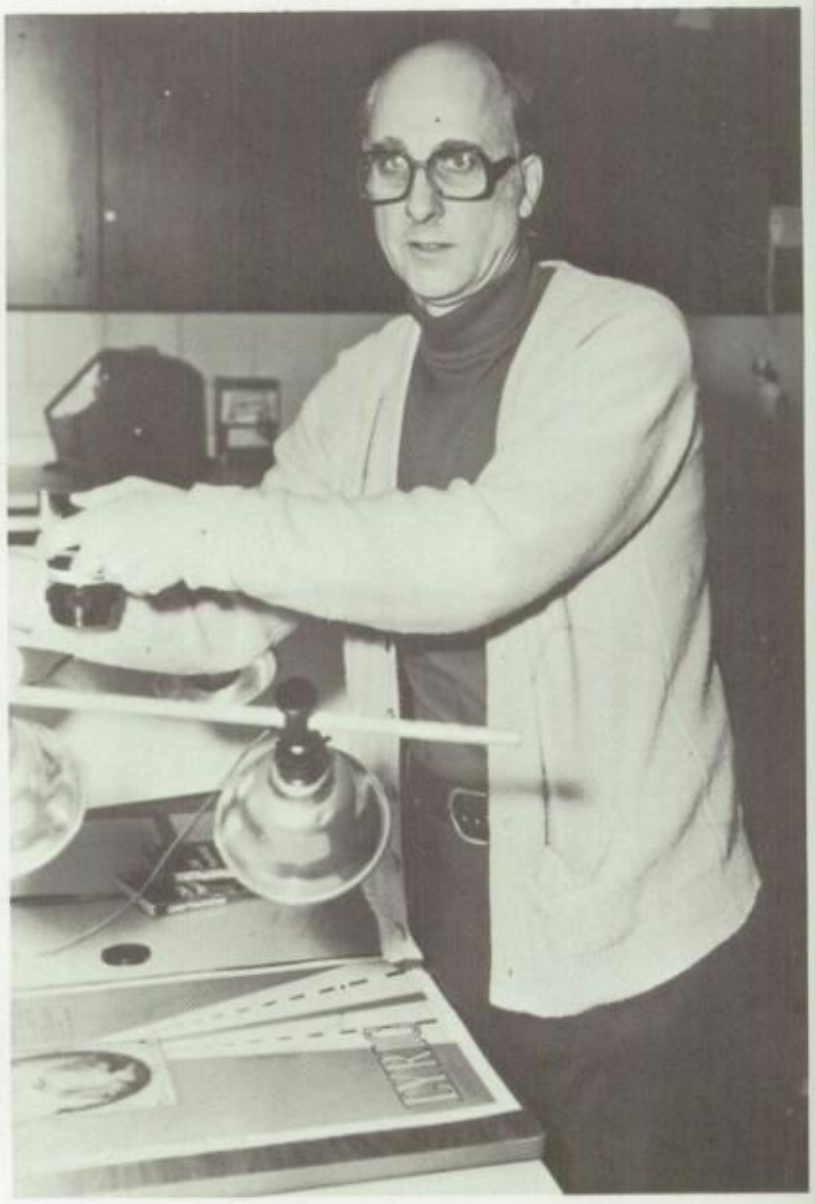
CLUBS

A.V. Is Important In Daily Activities



"It's exciting to help the students create something they can use in class," stated Mr. Fred Schreiber, Sibley's AV coordinator, who devotes much of his time to the interests of the students.

The Audio Visual Department "is a service organization whose purpose is to help the staff and the students with nonprint learning materials, and to improve the teaching and learning climate in the school," according to Mr. Schreiber.

The AV staff consists of school service workers and other students who come in on a volunteer basis, before school, after school, or during a free hour.

They distribute projectors, TV sets, and other equipment to classrooms; they take pictures and develop them for the classes; they copy materials for teachers and make slides and transparencies.

AV plays an important part in a school day. Without it, Sibley wouldn't have the PA system, music between classes, public addresses for school games, videotapes and much more.

Student Council Has New Appeal

Gotta gripe? Unfair detention? Take it to the Student Appeals Board which is a new service of the student council. It is set up by the Discipline Committee and it is available to any student who thinks he was given unfair punishment.

The Student Council is a system set up to provide the student body with a representative government within the school. It sponsors different committees that look into problems and find out what the students want. The committees include; Administration Committee, which meets with Mr. Hagman every week to talk about problems within the school; the Activities Committee, which plans events to fill in open dates; and the Foods Committee, which meets with Mrs. Degnan to discuss the school lunch program. The student council is also in charge of such activities as GOFA and Homecoming.

"No Mother To Guide Her" Or "More To Be Pitied Than Censured"

With "No Mother to Guide Her," Nancy Wilson as Spring Overton, was "More to be Pitied than Censured" in this years' fall play.

Miss Overton's melodramatic misadventures, which began with amnesia, culminated with her arrest for a mysterious murder. Happily, in the tradition of all melodramas, the love smitten hero, played by Joe Oestreich, rescued her from jail and her name was subsequently cleared.

During scene changes, many students participated in mini-melodramas called olios, which added to the comic atmosphere.

Open House — Open Minds

This year's Open House was greeted with more parent participation than in years past; however, as Mr. Reed put it, "although more parents attended, I felt that the parents I really needed to see were the ones that were absent. Those who show up are traditionally the parents of the better achievers." All in all, the general consensus among the teachers we talked to indicated that the faculty really enjoys a chance to meet with parents in order to help understand their students.

Lower Right: People of all ages enjoyed the dinner.

Once again, on November 18, the Junior class offered students, faculty, and the community a chance to get sauced . . . To get their spaghetti sauced, that is. The occasion was the annual Spaghetti Dinner, and the turnout was around 1300.

Kathy Zevnick, Junior class president, said that there was "really a lot of help and participation from Juniors." Approximately 150 bread butterers, sauce stirrers, and meatball molders worked to make the dinner a success.

EVENTS

Foreign Students

"What is it like to travel to a different country and live there for a year? Well, Elina Kylmanen of Finland, Marja Wezenberg of Holland, Pat Zahnbrecher of France, and Ivonne Parot from Chile came as exchange students to Henry Sibley.

"It's big," was Marja's first impression of Sibley.

"It's strange because it's in the middle of nature," stated Pat about the location of Sibley.

The classes, teachers, library, people and more held an enjoyment and special interest to the girls.

They highly recommend that students travel or become exchange students to experience the different cultures of other countries.

Warrior Wrestlers From Mats To Magic . . .

Wrestling captains Jim Lehman, Larry Anderson, Jay Amundson, and Shawn Finnegan led the Warriors to an overall team record of 9 wins and 6 losses. Tied for 4th place in the conference Sibley qualified four wrestlers in the region tournament. Those wrestling for Sibley were Jay Amundson, Jim Lehman, Rick Schneider, and Shawn Finnegan. Going to State for Sibley were Jay Amundson, Rick Schneider, and Jim Lehman. This is the greatest number of entries that Sibley has ever sent to the state tournament. Making the all-conference roster were Greg Giblin, Larry Anderson, Rick Schneider, Shawn Finnegan, and Jim Lehman.

. . . On Pins And Needles

Among the other tournaments that the wrestlers participated in Jay Amundson placed first in the Osseo Tournament, Shawn Finnegan won first in the Jefferson Tournament, and Larry Anderson and Jim Lehman each won first places in the Sibley Invitational. Coach Kubes was very pleased with the performances of his team this year, especially the senior wrestlers who overcame various injuries and wrestled well throughout the season. He also stated that the junior and sophomore wrestlers, with hard work and enthusiasm, will build to be a good team of wrestlers next year. The B-squad wrestlers had an overall season of 6 wins, 4 losses, and 1 tie. Most dedicated sophomore was Todd Anderson, and most outstanding sophomore was given to Sam Hildebrandt.

Cagers Watch Clock

The Sibley basketball team had two people who made All-Conference. The two players were Dennis Lockard and Ed Hagberg. Scott Yess and Paul Patterson earned Honorable Mention. They also had many other fine players like John Winsor, Terry Igo, Steve Gott, and Jim Ehlert who helped the team in their season.

Ehlert, D. Thorton, Coach Verdos.

The scoreboard shouts, "Park 41, Sibley 41." The frozen clock stares at the team. Five seconds remain. Suddenly a tense din echoes through the gym as Park fouls Sibley to give the Warriors two game-deciding free throws. Now a complete and nerve wracking silence enshrouds the spectators, as the pressure decends upon forward Ed Hagberg.

The teams line up. Eddie takes a deep breath. He dribbles once, twice, three times. Then with almost perfect form, he springs to his toes and releases the ball. A dull thud sounds as it rebounds off the backboard. The crowd moans. Eddie shakes himself. With sweat dripping from his brow, he once again breathes deeply, realizing the whole game is resting upon his tensed shoulders. With firm resolve he repeats the ritual, dribbling once, twice, three times. Then with the grace and power of a dancer Ed springs to his toes and releases the ball only to miss again.

Picture Two: Terry Igo scores with a lay-up shot.
Picture Three: Scott Yess dribbles to a basket.
Picture Four: Denny Lockard jumps for the ball.

SPORTS

The team desperately leaps into action to recover the rebound of the last concentrated effort. Denny Lockard spins the ball towards the basket. For the third time the ball evades the net! Denny recaptures the ball and to the sound of the final buzzer the ball slowly descends through the nylon netting. The fans scream out in uncontrollable ecstasy mingled with immense relief.

The B-Squad cagers bounced into the season with lots of determination and enthusiasm. Part of their success can be attributed to Coach Casey who, according to players, was instrumental in developing the team.

Winning 11 games, the team has set high goals for the upcoming year. Two outstanding players were Dan Lager and Barry Kendall who both scored over 200 pts.

Gymnasts Have "Beaming" Season . . .

At the beginning of this year's season each girl was asked to set some goals she would like to achieve through the season. For some it was a new trick, for others it was to compete on a new piece of equipment. One girl wrote "to be in the Olympics" (there's always one in every crowd).

The season record this year was 8-0. Co-captain Katie Oberle attributed this to the fact that "this year's team was more confident going into each meet. There was a better attitude overall in each gymnast."

Head Coach Vickie Rosvold was "very impressed with the season record," which placed the team third in the conference.

Whether all the goals were achieved or not, the team had a very successful season.

Warriors Kept The Water Warm

Despite record breaking freezing temperatures, the Warriors kept the water warm throughout the season. Although eventually defeated by Woodbury, the swimmers made a great showing in a tense action packed meet. The results of this defeat led the Warriors to tie for title of conference champs.

Part of the credit can be attributed to the devoted coaching of Don Dillon whose eighteen years of experience made many good teams. We want to reserve this space for a special, "Thanks, Mr. Dillon."

Girls' Basketball Bounces Through Brutal Season

A stupendous team effort and their usual aggressive playing were the two factors observed by spectators that contributed to the girls basketball team's win over Stillwater, their final game of the season. However, the satisfaction felt at this game was not experienced throughout their season. Frustration and disappointment were pre-dominant emotions of the girls. "Our team played aggressively and with a great amount of determination but were met with taller opposition," stated coach Andy. Their overall record at the end of the season was not a true indication of the dedication and hard work of the players and their well-loved coach, Mr. Andrychowicz.

HOCKEY:

ICEMEN TO SEMI-FINALS

With a 14-7-1 record, the Sibley Icemen were in full stride going into the Section 4 semi-finals. Although the spirit of the entire student body, as well as the community, was behind our Icemen, the Pucksters melted, and sank to a 9-1 score against our rivals, the South St. Paul Packers. During the course of the season the hockey team handily beat such teams as Park, North St. Paul and (In two games this year the team got their score up into double digits.) Rochester John Marshal, who eventually went on to win the State Tournament against Edina East.

This was the second year for the Cross Country Ski Team, and still not a large turn out.

One of the biggest problems the ski team encountered this year was the weather. Between the extreme cold temperatures and the problem of no snow.

Steve Tyler, one of the members of the team, enjoyed the exercise and the competition involved in Cross Country skiing.

The Death Of A Coach

How can you begin to pay an appropriate tribute to those dedicated or perhaps masochistic men who armed with wits, whistles, first aid kits, and throat lozengers, face the trying task of making boys into men. The athlete's pain and nervousness felt during competition is also experienced by the coach.

People often ask the inevitable question- how long can any one man survive under such stress and tension? Our reply to them is the following two fine examples of coaches who after years of undying service have decided to hang -up their whistles.

"Giving up the head wrestling coaching position has been one of the hardest things to do in my life. I've been involved in wrestling as either an active participant or a coach for 28 years, 16 years coaching at Sibley," explained Coach Kubes. As a matter of fact, if it weren't for him, there wouldn't be a Sibley wrestling team. He started it with a couple of mats, a few interested boys, and a great deal of patience and dedication, resulting in the team it is now.

Finding someone to replace Coach Kubes is going to be a difficult task. Few men have the impressive honors he has. He, as an active wrestler, won State high school awards and obtained Nationals in college, as well as many other honors. His dediction and concern for the wrestler as an athlete has always been an utmost factor in his mind.

The team as a whole held him in great esteem. "He always felt concern for the benefit of the wrestling team," expressed champion heavyweight wrestler Jim Lehman.

The team along with the school feels a great loss at losing our wrestling coach, a highly-qualified, loving man.

When asked how he felt about leaving the swimming team Coach Dillon expressed this- "I feel real bad about it. When you've been part of a group for 18 years, it's like chopping off your arm and that hurts!" Coach Dillion has been the swimming coach for 18 years. He's seen his teams swim through 149 wins, and 111 losses. Due to his encouragement and devotion Sibley swimmers were suburban champs in 1972 and again in 1977.

The members of the team felt great respect and gratitude for Coach Dillon. As Eric Nyquist expressed it for the team, "We could always fall back on him for reassurance, security and confidence. We worked hard not because he forced us to, but because we wanted to work hard for him. We were really glad we could win for him."

Nothing but remorse is the feeling of team and school at losing such a fine, extremely dedicated man as coach for our swim team.

Jazz Ensemble "Jazz'n it up!"

"It's an exciting experience to participate in Jazz Ensemble," stated one of the ensemble members. Being the most freestyle form of music at Sibley, it gives the musician a chance to improvise with, and express himself through, his instrument.

The ensemble performed at various school events this year including a GOFA assembly and a basketball game. They also gave a spring concert this past April.

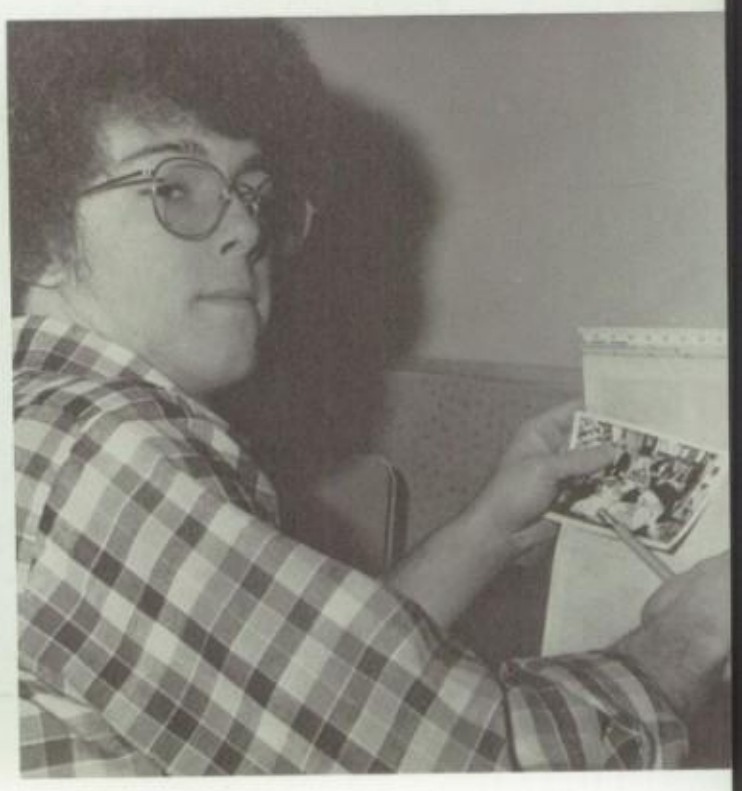
We're Impressed

Creative was the word Ms. Grasmick, the yearbook advisor, used to describe the staff this year. In our many sessions hashing over pages she was often heard saying, "I like the quality of work you do but the speed at which you do it is what worries me." Many Saturday mornings were spent at editor Glenn Osmundson's house writing copy and finishing pages. For example, a dedicated dozen spent a majority of their Easter vacation together meeting a deadline. We feel this bizzarre bunch of kids, all put together in a classroom, surprisingly enough made one of the finest books ever produced in the walls of Henry Sibley. A supreme effort by co-editors Glenn Osmundson and Carolyn Buursema helped to make this all possible.



Wonderful Warriorettes Dance And Entrance

Warriorettes

This year the Warriorettes participated in many events. They performed half-time shows during football and basketball games. Warriorettes entertained the school during Homecoming and GOFA weeks. This past year the Warriorettes have brought enjoyment to the staff and student body. Their many hours of hard work and practice has benefitted Sibley greatly.

The gross amount raised during GOFA week this year came to $6,128. After costs and expenses were subtracted, we resulted with a grand total of $4,900. It has been an unwritten policy in our school for several years, to give $600 towards scholarships. This money is distributed among needy graduates at Sibley High School. The rest of the money was donated to Gillette Children's Hospital to put towards the purchase of a new van. This year's fund raiser was a success as compared to last year considering we raised about $200 more. But more important, the planning and weekly activities ran very smoothly due to the cooperation and time put in by many helpful students and staff members.

Keep America Singing

A barbershop quartet consists of four voices, each singing their own part in harmony. All four voices must blend well and be in perfect balance. The tenor, the highest singing part, must especially blend with the lead who usually carries the main melody in each song. The lead must always be heard over the other three voices. The baritone is usually the one who gets the leftover notes. The lowest voice forms the root of the chord. This is the bass.

A Time For Lunch

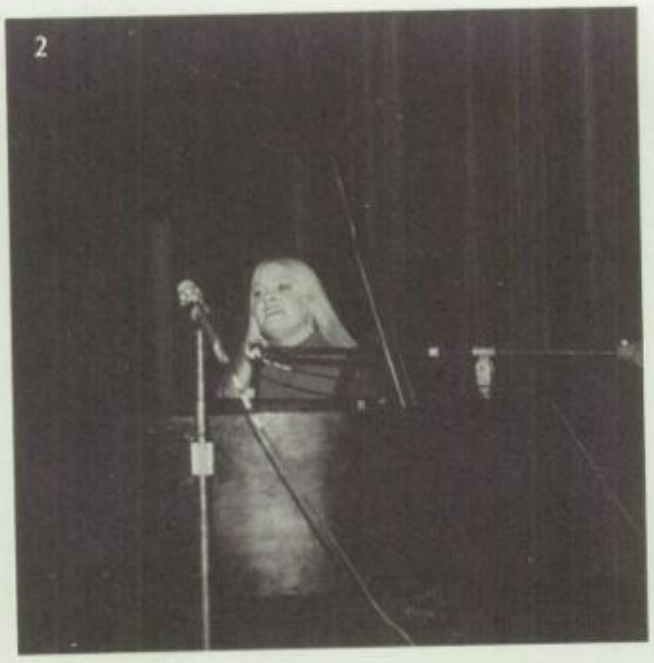
Do you realize that school lunch takes up approximately 1,677 hours of your life? That's 129 hours a year that you've spent in the school cafeteria.

If eaten regularly, schools lunches have cost you and your parents $1140.00. That's for all twelve years of formal education, plus all the milk you could drink in kindergarten.

To eat a hamburger, french fries, and dessert at Sibley would cost you .50. At McDonalds the same meal would cost .90. A milk at Sibley is only .03 but at McDonalds you would pay .20.

Each time you pay for a lunch you may wonder where all the profit goes, but there really is no profit. The school meal coordinators strive to keep the budget and food in balance. All profits from the snack bar go into the lunch program which means we get more and better things to eat.

It may not be McDonalds but our lunches are cheaper, more varied, and much handier.



You missed the best entertainment around if you didn't attend this year's Fifth Annual Boogie. The stars of the shows were Stu Wasilowski, Steve Willwerscheid, Pete Schaeberg, Monica Fox, Jan Boller, Kelly Berreman, Jenny Julson, Chris Schmitt, Nadine Chapdelaine, Dave Koenen, Debbie Koenen, Heide Vennes, John Wartman, Bob Nankivell, Jodi Neveau, Pat Zahnl, Lesa Hammett, Sheila Kampmeyer, Maureen Rooney, Heidi Propp, Pam Foreman, Sandy Young, Kathy Stevenson, Connie Keyes, Terry Rued, Dave Zamora, Joe McGowan, Chris McGowan, Bob Jensen, Mark Ryan, Tony Guscetti, Mary Fuller, Lynn Schaeberg, Colleen McCarthy, Carolyn McCarthy, Terry Steffen, Lisa Hnastchenko, Ed Lentsch, Greg Norton, Hank LaBounta, Janis Wright, Jean Hewitt, Bonnie Schmidt, Peggy Punch, Brenda Foreman, Karen Chlebeck, Sandi Gershman, Chris Oace, Patti Lynch, Doug Swanberg, Tom Melin, Dennis Featherstone, John Barber, Steve Hamilton, Mike Hindersheid, Tom McCabe, John Asfeld, Gary Burns, Tony Elumba and Paul Drahota. "The Leader"

Winter One Act Festival

What do you get when you take a story about a man who needed only to belong ("Stolen Identity"), a bizzarre play featuring a person with no head ("The Leader"), a who-dun-it murder mystery ("Who Murdered Who"), a musical review ("The Sibley Nine") and mixed them all together? You got the ingredients for this years' Winter One Act Play Festival held on January 21st. The One Acts featured a variety of short plays which gave the audience a change of pace from the usual school play. In addition, each play worked under a different director, a fact which gave each a separate quality of it's own.

"The Leader" went on to place 2nd at the regional One Act Play competition held at Harding High School.

The "Sibley Nine" (or 81's) also performed out of Sibley. They gave a performance at Wedgewood Health Care Center and at the Arts and Science Center Penthouse in downtown St. Paul.

The Mouse That Roared

The absurdity of a country three miles wide by five miles long declaring war on the United States and defeating them seems to be just as absurd as the idea of "A Mouse That Roared."

This country called Grand Fenwick, attacked New York at high noon with long bows and arrows and within one-half hour they had defeated the United States.

Elaborate costumes, especially of those of Grand Fenwick, added to the atmosphere of the play. We have Mrs. Dewald to thank for this. Credit should also be given to Miss Seng, for her part in directing the make-ups; Mrs. McKeen for her work on the scenery, and a special thanks to Mr. Veale who directed the entire production.

National Honor Banquet

The National Honor Society is an organization which recognizes outstanding scholastic achievement. In order to be eligible, a grade point average of 10.5 (B+) must be maintained. In addition to scholastic leadership, service and character are considered. This year fifty-six new members of the National Honor Society were selected.

The annual banquet, which was held this year on May 2, honored the members. Entertainment was provided by various students. Audrey Schindler played flute and was accompanied by Tom Melin. Two songs were provided by the trio of Karen Chlebeck, Brenda Foreman, and Peg Punch. A poetic interpretation was presented by Liz Drake.

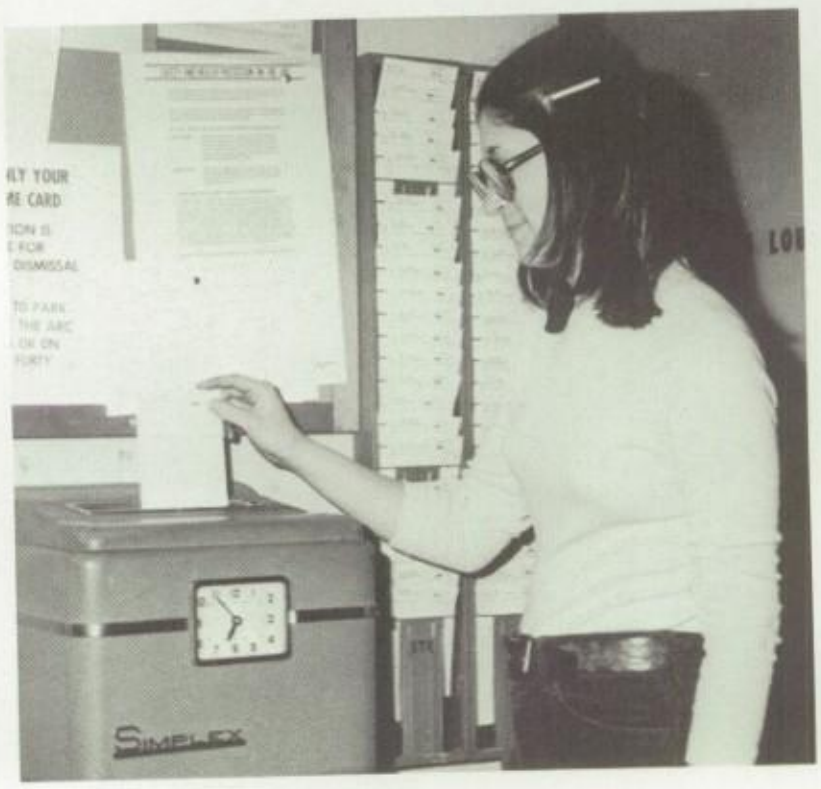
A Look At Some People



OJT-Key Club-Chess

Did you know that approximately ten percent of the student body is involved in some type of On-the-Job training program? The students are involved in one of several programs: VICA - Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, MOEA- Minnesota Office Education Association, DECA- Distributive Education Clubs of America, WEP- Work Experience Program, and WE-CEP- Work Experience Career Exploratory Program. There are three parts to the OJT program. The first part of it is classroom. It teaches things that are related with occupations. The second part is on-the-job. The student must have all of his school credits taken care of. Goals that the student wants to achieve are set up with the employer. The students are graded quarterly on how well their goals are achieved. The third part of the program is clubs- VICA, DECA, AND MOEA. Students can join state and national clubs. Students can participate in officer election and in skill olympics. All the programs combined help produce a well-rounded citizen with leadership capabilities in their field of occupation and help the student to decide about his future.

Chess is just like any other game or sport. To be good at it you have to practice. The team studies the game strategies that top players use. They practice the best way of opening and sharpening their game. The team, part of the Twin Cities Chess League, won their division for the third consecutive year. In the Twin City playoffs they lost in the second round to the eventual champs-Mariner. In the state tournament, the team was named region champs. Randy Bauer successfully defended his state title for first place.

This year Key Club, a community service group, voted to allow girls into the organization for the first time. At first there was some doubt over it but now everything is working out well. The boys as well as the girls share such responsibilities as teaching the retarded children to swim, raising money through various sales for local scholarships, and going on the Walk for Mankind. Key Club enjoys helping people learn to do new things and is rewarded by the appreciation of the people.

Foreign Language Banquet An International Affair

Since when does Sibley serve gourmet food? Since April 19 when the second annual Foreign Language Banquet was held. There was music, entertainment, and a spread of food that would have impressed Henry the VIII. The menu consisted of various foods native to the countries that the foreign language classes studied. Besides the usual student favorite tacos, the banquet offered French crepes, Vietnamese salad, German bratwurst, Dutch pannekoeken, and a good variety of other things such as beverages, French onion soup, and a delicious German apple dessert.

Tickets were sold before and during the banquet at a price of .25 per item of food. That .25 enabled guests to have a "cultural experience" by tasting the foods of other countries and later on be entertained by Sibley's own talented foreign language students.

The French classes sang two songs; "Je t'aime a' la Folie" and "Mon Vrai Destin". They also did a skit involving Eric Swendsen, Mark Overbye, and Quang Doan. The Spanish classes did a short skit and sang three songs; "Yo Quiero Amigos", "Guantanamerra", and "De Colores".

There were also a few rousing polkas played by "Fiddles and Friends".

The entertainment was very well done and really showed the work that was involved in this project. Introducing those acts, were Masters of Ceremonies Eric Swendsen and Joe Courtmanche. Their aggressive personalities kept the audience relaxed and happy throughout the night.

Due to the combined efforts of all the foreign language teachers and students (with special recognition to Anne Montgomery, Bonnie Schmidt, Nancy Lauritsen, and Miss Green) the banquet was thought to be a great success.

Debate Argues Its Point

Sibley's debate team won 184 debates out of the 295 in which they participated, an average of 62% wins. In state competition, members participating won 83% of the debates. Debator Debby Koenen, a senior, says, "Debate has provided me with a good understanding of public speaking and argumentation, logic, and persuasion." Sarah Karon reflects, "It taught me to organize my thinking and to be more critical of what people say." Coach Craig Bucher plans to send some Sibley debators to Seattle, Washington, in June to participate in the National Speech and Debate Tournament. It will be Sibley's eighth time at the national finals. Sibley seems to have produced repeatedly one of the finest debate teams in America, and this year has been no exception.

Art Is A Crafty Subject

In the Spring of the year the drab walls of Henry Sibley are turned into canvas for the painters and plaster for the sculpters as the art students attempt to brighten up the school and improve their grade in art. This year's artists made lion's heads out of drinking fountains, and rollercoasters out of stairwells. As well as your average art projects were such exciting items as rings, weavings, masks, and pottery sculptures.

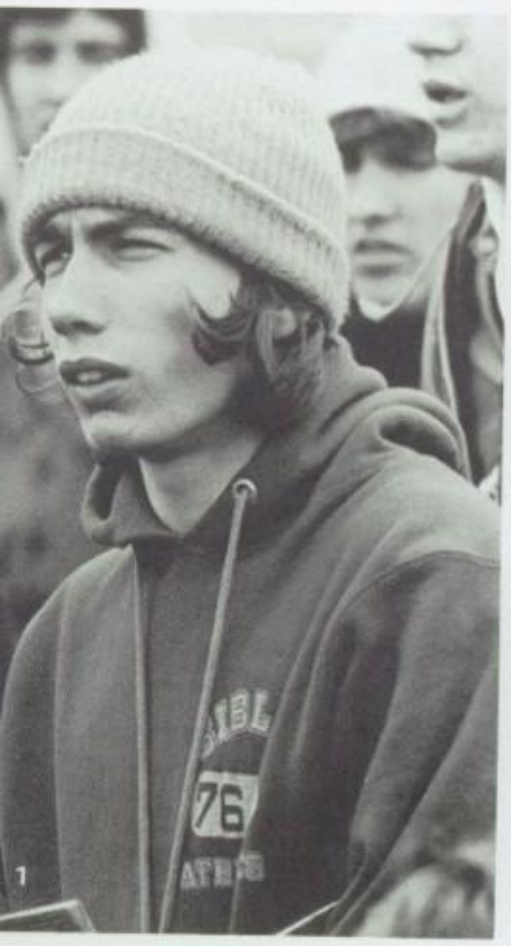
Coaches emphatically discussing important plays. Teammates watching anxiously from the sidelines for the outcome. Fans screeching in hopeful anticipation of victory. These are just a few of the sideline activities viewed at sporting events. At times sidelines can become as frenzied and exciting as the actual action of the sporting event. In fact, would there even be participation in sports if there was no sideline animation? Would the ecstacy of scoring a touchdown, winning a race, or dropping a basket be such a joyful moment if fans and teammates weren't there to share it? Sidelines also serve as a refuge to the tired, discouraged athlete. Here he can find solace and respite from the vigors of active involvement with hostile opponents.

As a sideline spectator I have observed dedicated athletes in moments of utter despair and exhaustion after being taken out of the game. They sit on the sidelines looking as though they had just lost their purpose for living. That is where the true concept of sports lies . . . in the face of the defeated athlete.

While viewing a sporting event the next time I suggest you take in the sidelines as well as the action.



You will discover that there is more to the game than just the occurances on the field. Start watching sports as a whole, it's much more revealing.

Although some people think that baseball is becoming an obsolete sport, the team and fans at Sibley don't agree. The team, working hard to be the best around, has many players who can play a variety of positions. Determined to win every game, a few of the members have the courage and stamina to yell and cheer the rest of the team on through the whole game. It is easy to spot a Sibley baseball player in the halls, with his cap on his head, glove in his hand, and determination in his eyes; baseball at Sibley is not going out of style.

Baseball Still In Style

From Hurdles And Sprints To Relays And Distance

From hurdles and sprints to relays and distance, from pole vaults and long jumps to shot puts and discus, the Sibley track team dashed through another exciting season.

Even though the team, led by captains Dan Daily, Lee Hildebrant and Steve Rosvold, didn't win a majority of their meets, many team members had excellent individual seasons. Tom Burke, Dan Daily, Clay Kelly, Steve Rosvold and Bill Spohn received all conferences honors. The team was plagued by many minor injuries and one major injury (in the form of a broken leg) to Lee Hildebrant which prevented him from a strong conference showing.

Victory is a common word as the boys' tennis team adds another win to their undefeated conference record. As it stands, they are 5-0 in conference matches and 10-1 overall. Dave Nyman, along with the other team members, thinks the team has an excellent chance of being conference champs and hopefully going on to state.

With a lot of returning lettermen, including sophomore Brad Finn, the team is better than ever. "So far, competition for a good position on the team has been tougher than competiion from other schools," says doubles player Chris Oace. According to third singles player John Lilleburg, "if the team has any weakness at all, it can be attributed to the fact that there are only two left-handed players!"

The tennis season for the boys was reduced this year to an equal number of days that the girls get in the fall. Scott Yess feels that this new policy is unfair because "the girls have been playing all summer and are in good shape while we have to use part of our time to get back in shape." In spite of this factor, the team is showing some fine talent and will hopefully continue advancing through their remaining games.

The Glory Of An Athlete

After participating in a year of sweat, strain, dedication because of a deep masochistic love of sports, Sibley's athletes and coaches hung-up their sweat suites and whistles in exchange for dress clothes and microphones at this year's Athletic Banquet.

Coach Verdoes as master of ceremonies kept the evening rolling, by telling jokes and ancedotes concerning outlandish events that occurred throughout the year.

Although many felt Louise Gadbois held a monopoly on the awards for the evening, everyone who was an active participant in athletics received some sort of recognition.

The entire evening was filled with great excitement and a feeling of unity among athletes, but the tension-building minutes before the Most Valuable Athletes of the Year were named, was definitly THE most exciting moments of the evening ....

The spellbound audience seemed as if they were enshrouded in web of unbreakable silence. The announcer's breath was hear magnified ten times through the microphone. After clearing h throat, Mrs. Klooz, who is retiring after years of dedicated servi as athletic secretary, named this years Most Valuable Woma Athlete Louise Gadbois. A frenzied burst of applause echoe through the auditorium. The Most Valuable Male Athlete awar was given to Steve Rosvold and yes, Jim Lehman, too. It was a ti Once again the crowd burst forth in a spirit of relieved enthusiasi

The honored three, with the pride and dignity of the athlet they were and are, walked forward to reap the rewards which mad all their hard physical and emotional work worthwhile!

SPORTS

Golf Has A Driving Season

The golf team plans a good season this spring. Coach Bollman replied, "We will be one of the best or one of the top two in the conference." Another golfer, Jim Halberg said, "We will be on of the best or the best in the conference." A contributing factor to their hopeful success is that they are all fairly equal to each other, which makes for a strong team. They get a lot of practice in their matches because they have up to four a week. But only five out of the nine players can compeat at every match. To determine the team that will compete, they have a play-off before each match.

It's Been A Long And Hard Season

Who will Freddie spend the night with? Freddie, our new team mascot, goes where the winners go. Freddie is a little stuffed bear who follows the girls' track team to their meets. There he cheers them on to victory. Even though Freddie is an asset to their wins, drive and determination have also been two important factors.

Great improvements have been made regarding individual records. The season ended with a strong, young team, which is expected to do even better next year. Ending the year fourth in conference, the girls have had a good season. Many of the girls have brought home trophies and ribbons.

Coach Gustafson and Asst. Coach Johnson have developed new techniques for training: the season started with three weeks of strenuous weight training. The girls then furthered the training in their own individual areas. It's been a long and hard season, but the results have been worth it.

ockers: A lome Away rom Home

As you walk the halls of Henry Sibley there is a warmth, an air about this institution that makes you smile. Like the first taste of one of your mom's apple pie like someone or something is smiling at you. When you enter the building, as a sophomore, you felt strange and somewhat out of place. As you make your way down the hall for the first time the walls seem to stare at you and the ever-present pillars scoff at your mere presence. Finally, you make your first encounter with the building itself (other than walking in that is).

As you turn the knob of your new, clean smelling locker that warm, apple pie feeling comes to you from within and you have to smile. Twisting the knob to its final resting place you reach to find the door will not open. You're stuck. Stuck with one of those terribly undisciplined lockers. These are the lockers that won't open, squeak when you get them open, and have rejected the placement of the standard coathook. This is enough to make a locker abuser of an unsuspecting sophomore.

These are the rotten juniors and seniors that kick, hit, slam, and even bend and hang on their locker door.

For the majority of the students who have had good luck with their lockers, it is a pleasent, happy place, a home away from home, so to speak. These lockers are often given that "home away from home" look through decoration or even just the way mom makes them keep their bedroom, nice and neat? For other students the locker becomes such a security blanket that they may even miss a class or two just to be with it.

Library A Reservoir Of Information

When a student is given any type of research assignment he turns to the reservoir of information in the library. Aside from being one of the finest in the state, the library is used by a vast majority of students for a vast number of purposes ranging anywhere from working on a term paper for Psychology to merely going in there to bother the librarians. For the most part the library is a pleasent, quiet study area and Mrs. Taylor and her loyal crew do their best to keep it that way.

I love the warmth of the fire
the quilt on my bed
the arms of my father
the friendship of my mother
I love golden hair
brown eyes
a smile that lights the warmth inside
the face that reflects his love
I Love His Love

I USED TO BE, BUT NOW I'M ...
I used to be a rock but now I'm a pebble.
I used to be a raindrop but now I'm a snowflake.
I used to be an ocean but now I'm a seashore.
I used to be a bud but now I'm a flower.
I used to be a cocoon but now I'm a butterfly.
I used to be dark but now I'm bright.
I used to be sad but now I'm happy.

Let me live

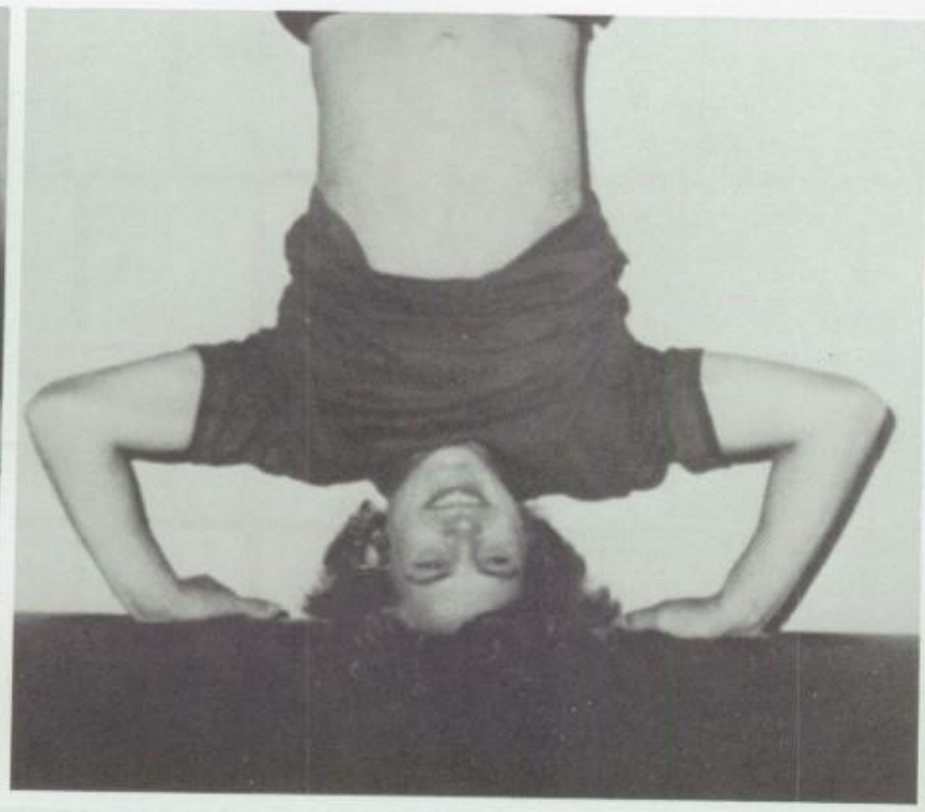
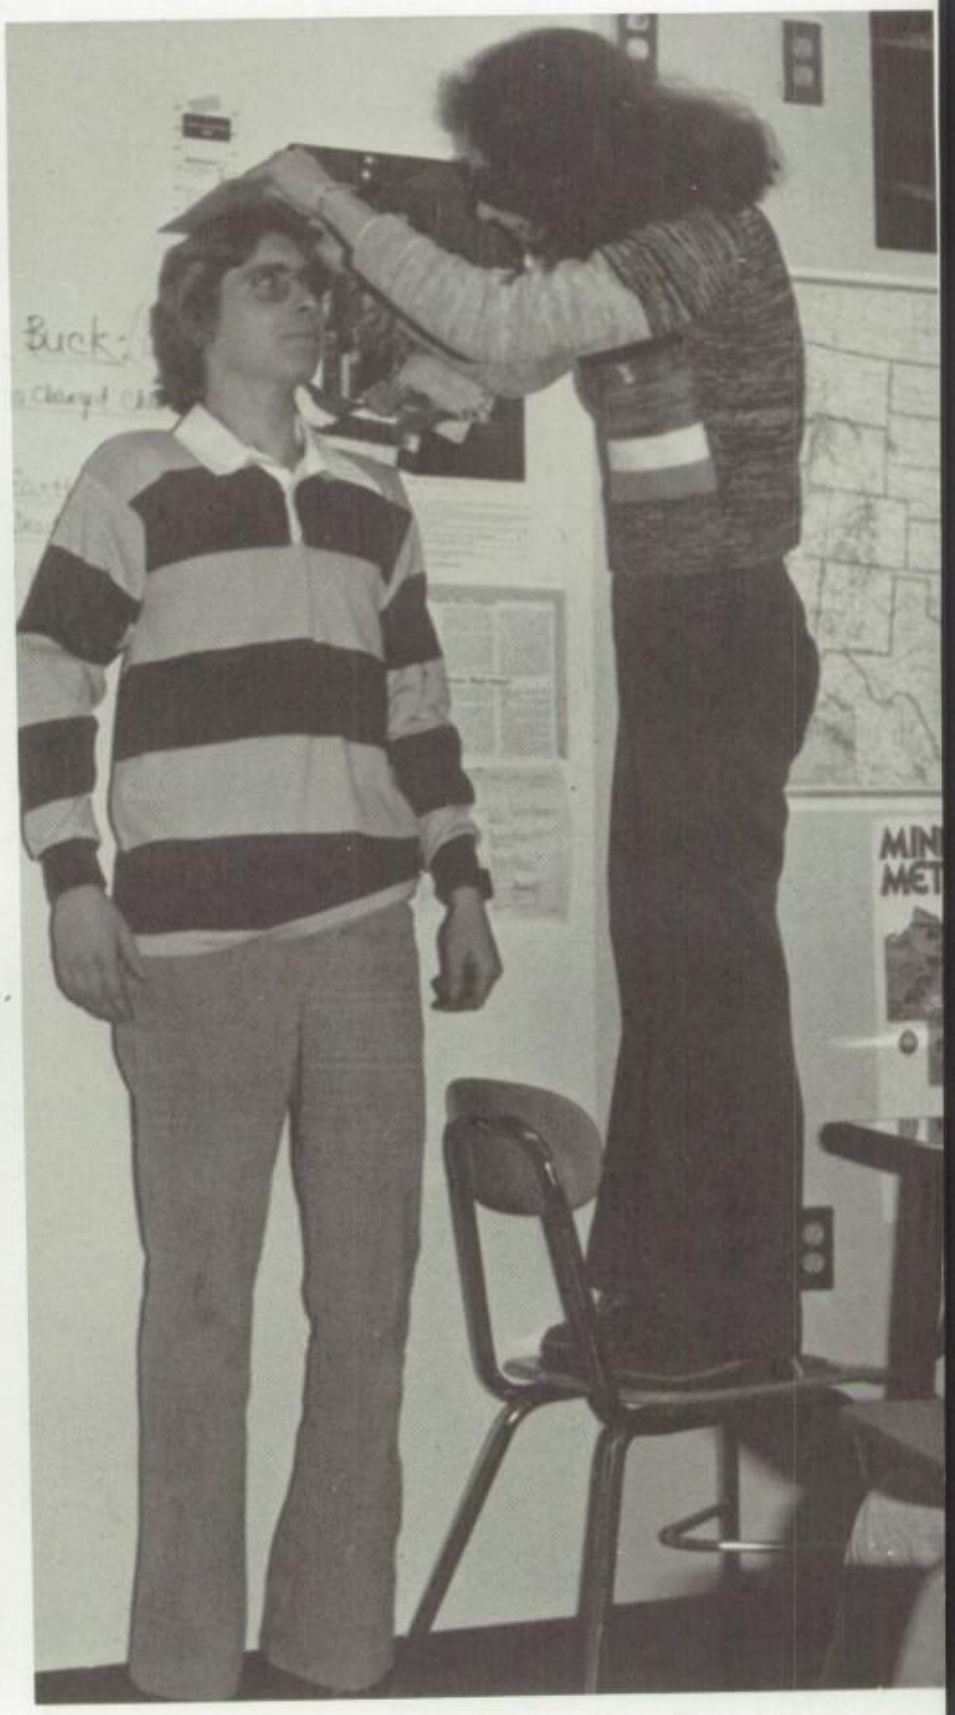
We Don't Act



Always Like Seniors



But we are seniors

ONLY A CHAPTER IN A LIFETIME Walls, lacking color and windows, tinted dark to hide a beautiful day
We are one in a crowd of disoriented migrants searching for something better
Being programmed in order to
Be the same, We are asked to be creative

We search to find ourselves and become distraught in our attempt
Yet find ourselves strong with

As a sophomore I had many dreams,
as a junior I worked
to make those dreams
come true,
but it is only now
when I am a graduate that those dreams will be fullfilled ... and I am proud.
From this moment on
I am on my own.
Out of the protective shell,
I am a bird A about to try my wings for the first time
but I'll show the world that I can soar.
Now is the chance
I've been waiting for,
a chance to make
my dreams come true.
I will never walk
these halls again
and feel as I belong
because it is time to move on and I am ready.
What lies ahead
is bigger and better things.
My life if just beginning.

Thoughts Of A Graduate

by
Becky Perron

YOU ARE BEAUTIFUL PEOPLE. I LIKE YOU. I'VE HAD MORE GOOD DAYS THAN BAD DAYS WITH THIS CLASS . . .

525 men and women, attired in powder blue and royal blue robes which covered dresses, slacks, and cut-offs, listened attentively as Mr. George Lowe, speaking for the faculty, said farewell to the class of '77.

The choir sang, Mr. Hagman, principal, presented the senior class to Mr. Anderson, superintendent, and the march across the stage began as Mr. McDuff, chairman of the schoolboard, gave out diplomas.

Too suddenly, the ceremony was over. The caps and gowns were returned, the official diplomas received.

Although, lately some of you have had a severe case of senioritis — mentally checking out early . . . Some members of your class are not here tonight. Why? Absenteeism and working — to support and automobile!

A SPECIAL PLACE

I'm going to tell you a story you won't believe.
About a place that's simple to find
It's qualities are great yet for granted they're taken
By people of every kind.
It's a place for everyone to share
To learn, to live, to grow
To find who they are, and where they are going
And rewards this place will show.
It gives out discipline in many respects
Some unjust, and some unfair
You must abide by the rules, and be courteous unto it you must try and you must care.

For all of us attend this place
Some as friends, and some as foe
The friends are smart, for they advance
And they learn what they must know
But the foe will crawl along their way
Falling farther and farther behind
They do not try, they do not care
Success-they'll never find.
I've told you know about this place
Not found in sea or sky
But found right here for all to share
This place is Sibley High.
